

YOU'VE HEARD IT SAID

LifeGroups

Key things you heard

- Relationships drive change, and change drives long-term restoration.
- A great way to love our global neighbors is to find common values from different cultures.
- We can assimilate to one another's backgrounds, cultures, and traditions.
- When we trust God to work in those around us, we're free to allow every person we meet to be our friend to love instead of a project to fix.
- Living in God's love allows us to project and reflect His love to those around us.

Pray: God, our hearts hurt for our global neighbors, especially when they're hurting. Give us a common language of love as we interact with others. We know that even when it's dark, Your light shines bright. We ask for protection and peace over our Afghan neighbors. In Jesus' name, amen.

Tweetable Moments

The Church is always called to serve people—not to point fingers or judge people.

The best language to share the gospel is love.

Say What? Questions for conversation

Icebreaker: Talk about common values you share with your LifeGroup.

- What stood out to you most?
- On a scale of 1-10, how comfortable are you with loving your neighbors—even those who are different than you?
- Read 1 Corinthians 12:20-26. How does that impact how you see your global neighbors?
- Share about a time when you experienced God's goodness despite your circumstances. How can you share that hope with those around you?
- In what ways can you share Jesus through your actions—not just your words?
- What are some ways you can more intentionally love your global neighbor?
